

Who should I talk to if I have a concern about my child in school?

Your first point of contact should always be the class teacher. The school Senco can also be involved either at any initial meeting or through any follow up appointments.