

PETRIFIED GIRL LOSES BELOVED PARENTS

17th November 2027

£2

On 17th November 2027, Zoe Bullock lost her beloved parents in a fight to escape Norwich. Treacherous waves smashed Norwich to bits!

Zoe's parents going missing

From Zoe's parents going missing, Zoe is going to a whole other island and then going to the main lands. Zoe is gradually getting ready to go to the main lands after she gets all the food and water she needs to go. Last night, waves struck Norwich so hard that it has nearly swallowed all of it and nearly everyone has left the tiny island. There are only 12 people left on Norwich and most people are leaving tonight. Here is Melinda Brook coming from Norwich today" Once I noticed the formidable floods rushing towards my house I knew I had to go so that's why I'm leaving tonight."

The story so far

After her parents evacuated the city of Norwich, Zoe set across the sea looking for them. She is going across the sea in a boat she has named Lyca; she has had no luck finding them yet. She is determined to find them and no-one will be able to stop her on her perilous journey. Zoe is going to leave soon to find her lost beloved parents. Zoe has explained that she has looked everywhere except the main lands. She is only just finished getting things she needs to go; she is not going today because apparently someone has taken her boat! She is hastily looking around the island to find her precious boat (Lyca).

What can you do to help?

You could help by making a search party for her parents or you can call 123 (the polices number) to help find her parents. You could also help by getting a boat for her.

What's happening now

Until now, Zoe's parents have not been found but loads and loads of people are coming to help and her parents are also on boats looking for her.

Reported by Frederick James Paris

Above: Eels island.